

SOME OF OUR FAVOURITE CHARACTERS ARE...

I love the Cheshire Cat and the Mad Hatter from Alice in Wonderland. So to choose just one, it would have to be the Mad Hatter. His quirkiness, unsolvable riddles and elaborate outfits. Curious and curiouser!!! Definitely my all-time fave.

(Jacky)

Right now (this would probably change in half an hour) this is Mr Fox from the fox in socks (Dr Seuss). I just love the tong twisters !

(Magali)

I would like to say "Arsene Lupin" (Gentleman-Thief). "Very clever thief, with a" Robin Hood "soul". Although is a burglar, this character fights against greed and excesses always in favor of the most needy people always in a gentle and very smart way " There is a series of titles about this character.

(Eduardo)

Arsene Lupin
(Maurice Leblanc - The extraordinary adventures of Arsène Lupine, Gentleman-Burglar) He is a passionate adventurer who sees his crimes as a game with a detective and with his mastery of crime he impresses friends, enemies and victims. He is a genius thief but still a great gentleman and that's what I have liked about him.

(Jan)

Starbuck from Moby Dick.

The one man who knew the job at hand (whaling) but still had the heart to go about in a humane way.

He also warned Ahab about the inevitable death from the battle with the white whale knowing that this was personal for Ahab but that it would lead to the end for all the whalers.

(Gary)

Obvious isn't it? Igor from the Terry Pratchett Discworld series. Multi-talented and works quietly in the background to make things happen. Never really gets the credit for it though... Carpe Jugulum probably best book!

(Rob)

Frank Owen from The Ragged-Trousered Philanthropists.

Convinced of the veracity of his world view and, despite the challenges and unpopularity he faces, not afraid to speak his mind.

(Vic)
